Manager Commentary

In comparison with two previous months, the price decline stopped in December in the majority of larger stock markets and more risky bond markets. The fund return was positively affected by investments into the stock markets of the developed countries, whereas the stock prices in our vicinity (Central and Eastern Europe and Russia) continued declining. In addition, the fund return was negatively affected by our review of risks of several bonds of Baltic companies and the repricing of these bonds.

In the near future, we view the most interesting investment opportunities in relation to corporate bonds of the euro zone with high credit rating. As regards the stock markets, we think that the opportunities for moderate price growth are better in the developed and more liquid markets.
