Manager Commentary

The value of the fund increased rapidly driven by advancing stock prices in global equity markets. There are signs of rebound in global economic growth underway during the second half of this year. The equity markets were further supported by second quarter company results which were released during July. All major equity markets where the fund invests in posted a positive return, with Central Europe leading the way (22% price growth respectively in Euro terms). We have maintained higher than usual equity exposure and tilted our investments more toward emerging markets, which have helped the results. We continue to hold short-term positive view for equity markets. In the bond market, the fund bought euro government bonds. The performance benefited from investment in Emerging Europe bonds, including Lithuania, Poland, and Romania, where performance was particularly strong.
