Manager Commentary

With the exception of Japan, all equity markets where the fund invests in were up over November. Gains were led by Latin America (up almost 7% in EUR terms), USA and Russia (both up over 4% in EUR terms). In the fixed income markets euro government bond yields drifted slightly lower, but there was a big dispersion across individual countries – Greece spreads widened strongly, while spreads for most other euro countries were little changed. Investment grade bond yields continued tightening. The selling of Swedbank Private Debt Fund on November 30 boosted the fund's performance by 0.8%. At the end of November markets were temporarily shaken by the credit problems in Dubai. The pension fund does not hold any assets in the Middle-East region and was thus not directly affected by the woes.

In November we maintained the equity weighting close to legally allowed limits. We keep overweighting more cyclical regions, like bigger emerging markets and Europe while underweighting the US and Japan. In the latter we slightly increased our positions after the Japanese Central Bank provided markets another liquidity injection and verbally intervened to depreciate the currency. The biggest changes in the portfolio were related to currency exposure and fixed income markets. At the beginning of the month we significantly increased our positions in EEK investment grade and Estonian government or quasi sovereign related instruments. In the anticipation of euro entry we see that the Estonia related risk levels have further room to compress. We are considering to express that view also indirectly by increasing our exposure in Swedish equity market, which in the past has among other factors also been influenced by the risk perception in the Baltic Countries.

The value of the Fund's unit can either grow or decrease in time. The current return of the Fund shall not guarantee the same return in the future. Funds investing in foreign markets are vulnerable to monetary movements, which may lead to a growth or decrease of the net asset value of the Fund's unit. Pension Funds are founded on the basis of Funded Pensions Act. The following payment which conditionally consists of two parts - tax (4% portion of the social tax) and contribution (2% contribution of the state funded pension, withheld by the employer on the employee's gross wages) - shall be transferred to the mandatory funded pension account for a person who has joined the funded pension system.
